

Eye liner

The correct application of eye liner is basic for achieving a broad standard of eye makeup. And, of course, the eyes themselves and the area around them are the most outstanding of every facial features and therefore should be the area you take most instance and tending when applying makeup to.

Our eyes naturally draw attention to them. Not without justification the eyes are considered to be "the windows to the soul";, you can learn a lot by hunting into someone's eyes. If the eyes are the windows to the soul that makes eyeliner the window frame to the soul. Learning to make good use of eye liner opens up possibilities for creating assorted attractive looks. Let us give you some eye make up tips on how to do it right.

You should apply eyeliner directly after eye shadow. In order to stabilize your hand lean your elbow on your makeup counter / table top / chest drawers top or, at least against your thigh.

Make sure your eye liner pencil is sharp. If using liquefied eye liner make sure it is fresh.

Hold eye liner application device (pencil or liquefied eye liner applicator) as if holding a pen. Turn your hand so that the tip of the applicator / pencil is parallel to the eyelids.

Apply eyeliner along just above the upper eyelid's lashes close to the eye lash line. At a prototypical distance short of where last eye lashes grow. Drawing a distinction too far towards the corner of the eyes may countenance funny. You can always experiment with lengthening the distinction and intend to know what distance is for you.

Once ended applying eye liner you can smudge it a little using either the foam tip at the back end of the eye liner pencil (so that's what it's for) or a Q-tip.

This module softens harsher parts of the distinction drawn.

After you are ended with the eye liner itself gently run a coat of dark eye shadow over it (use a sharp brush for necessary exactness). This module softens the frame you created for your eyes and is most necessary when using a liquefied liner.

A good tip for making using eye liner pencils easier is to heat their tips a little just before using them. This module softens the tips and makes smearing it easier, you can use a blow dryer or other such heat sources.

Finally advert that liners come in assorted specs of black, blue, green etc. experiment with these colors, as well as with drawing assorted shapes and looks to learn what distance best for you for assorted occasions.
